

Goal	Data Collected	Progress
This week, we plan on making sure the new features we added run smoothly.	Through previous ComSci lessons, we've found more features that could help our code execute more flawlessly and neatly.	So far, some of the features have run smoothly, though some we have to fix because it would exit our code.
Strength	Areas for development	Strategy for success
Our code is more responsive, and we're sure that our code will run smoothly.	We need to make sure that all the new added features run smoothly.	We'll work on at least trying to perfect the new features so that the code doesn't exit with an error.